

Introduction

At Premier Hotels & Resorts we are passionate about selecting high quality, good-value wines that pair well with the cuisine. Matching wine and food can help bring out the diverse flavours in both, and complement the textures and taste-experience of each dish.

Below is a tasting guide to assist you in selecting a wine that suits your palate and choice of meal, but If you would like our assistance in making that selection it would be a pleasure to offer some guidance.

Aroma or bouquet - the smell of a wine: bouquet applies particularly to the aroma of older wines. Some aromas associated with wines include fruits, herbs, flowers, grass, tobacco, butterscotch, toast, vanilla, mocha, and chocolate.

Body - the apparent weight of a wine in your mouth, which is usually attributable principally to a wine's alcohol. You can classify a wine as light-bodied, medium-bodied, or full-bodied.

Crisp - a wine with refreshing acidity. Acidity is more of a taste factor in white wines than in reds. White wines with a high amount of acidity feel crisp.

Dry - in wine speak, dry is the opposite of sweet. You can classify the wine you're tasting as either dry, off-dry (in other words, somewhat sweet or semi-sweet), or sweet.

Finish - the impression a wine leaves in the back of your mouth and in your throat as you swallow it (an after taste). In a good wine, you can still perceive the wine's flavours - such as fruitiness or spiciness - at that point

Flavour Intensity - how strong or weak a wine's flavours are. Flavour intensity is a major factor in pairing wine with food, and it also helps determine how much you like a wine.

Fruity - a wine whose aromas and flavours suggests fruit, does not imply sweetness. You smell the fruitiness with your nose, in your mouth, you "smell" it through your retro nasal passage.

Oaky - a wine that has oak flavours (smoky, toasty), often resulting from storage in oak barrels either during or after fermentation.

Soft - a wine that has a smooth rather than crisp mouth feel. Soft wines typically have a low amount of acidity.

Tannic - a red wine that is firm and leaves the mouth feeling dry. Tannins alone can taste bitter, but some tannin in wines are less bitter than others. Depending on the amount and nature of its tannin, you can describe a red wine as astringent, firm, or soft.
